Burns' Body Found in Icy Sturgeon Pool by Grapplers Last Night

Central Hudson Crew Recovers Missing Man Inside Convertible Coupe — Had Plunged Into 20 Feet of Water.

NEVER RETURNED

Left Home at Rosendale Saturday Afternoon To Go to Store and Take Short Drive.

The mystery which had surrounded the disappearance of Edward J. Burns, who left his home at Rosendale about seven o'clock Saturday night, expecting to return shortly and who had not been seen or heard of after that time, was solved about 11 o'clock Wednesday night, when a wrecking truck of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation brought Burns' Packard coupe up from the bottom of Sturgeon pool where it had lain in 18 or 20 feet of water and dragged it into shallow water near the foot of the steep and rocky bank at that point.

The body of the unfortunate man was found hunched up on the seat beneath the steering wheel, his hands outspread, apparently as they had remained when they were torn from the wheel as his car took its terrible plunge and sank beneath the icy waters.

Edward Davis and Nicholas Radenberg of the Central Hudson force, who had originally located the sunken car by means of grappling hooks, standing in water nearly up to their hips removing Burns' body from the car and with the assistance of Sheriff Molyneux, deputies and troopers he was passed up the steep embankment.

Coroner Lester D. DuBois was notified; also the district attorney's office and Assistant District Attorney Haver ordered an autopsy, which was to have been performed this morning by Dr. Taylor of Rosendale and Dr. Taylor of Kingston. The body was taken to the McCordie undertaking parlors in Rosendale.

Wore No Overcoat

As was told in The Freeman yesterday, Burns, who is a foreman in the plant of the Connecticut Publishing Co., at Greenwich, Conn., had driven to his home in Rosendale Saturday afternoon, arriving there about 7 p. m. Shortly afterward he drove out to the store to get some bottled beer and might drive around and take a look at a gas station belonging to William Pintard and which he had considered buying. He said that he would be right back and that such was his intention was indicated by the fact that he wore no hat or overcoat, his car being well heated, and did not put on his necktie.

That was the last seen of him, Sunday Mrs. Burns called at the sheriff's office and reported the matter, but said that she did not want an alarm sent out at that time, fearing needless publicity.

General Alarm Sent

Yesterday morning, when Burns had not yet been located, Sheriff Molyneux started an investigation and he and Deputy Sheriff Vredenburg with Trooper Kelly went to Rosendale and visited all the places in that section where the missing man might have stopped. They even visited the place where the car and body was eventually found, but saw no indications that a car had been in trouble at that point and the morning's search was without result. Returning to his office the sheriff sent out a general alarm with a description of the missing man and car.

Nothing further developed until about five o'clock yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Burns, searching near the Sturgeon Pool, saw traces of oil on the water. She at once told Undertaker Frank J. McCordie of Rosendale and the latter notified Corporal Norman Baker, who was in Rosendale at the time, and also Sheriff Molyneux.

The sheriff, with Deputy Vredenburg and Corporal Baker, and McCordie went to the spot where Mrs. Burns had seen the oil, which is about a quarter of a mile north of Pintard's Black Swan Inn, on the Eddyville-Rifton road.

Find Piece of Exhaust Pipe

At this point in the road, which is near where Black Creek empties into Sturgeon Pool, there is a turn-off or parking space to the west of the road, it being perhaps 25 or 30 feet from the highway to the bank of the pool. Going to the edge of the bank, which is precipitous and perhaps 15 or 20 feet from the water's edge, the officers at once noted the oil rising to the surface of the water. Looking closer they saw a piece of exhaust pipe lying near the edge of the ice that bordered the shore.

Sheriff Molyneux called up Frederick W. Snyder of the Central Hudson and within half an hour the emergency truck and the company's big white truck had responded. Mr. Snyder had one of the trucks bring a boat from the company's recreation ground and two members of the Assembly Passes Bill To Halt Diversion of Gasoline Tax Monies

Charlie, Hobo, Has Religion by Meals; Gets 5 Days, Bath

Camping out in the "jungle" of the town of Saugerties in March may have its good points but Charles Buchanan, 57, who gave his occupation as "road man," will have five days in which to rest up from his roughing it in the wilds of hobo-land. Not only will Charlie have an opportunity to rest up from his arduous household duties which accompany living in the jungle, but he will also have the opportunity of enjoying good hot baths apparently the first since last summer.

Charlie was brought to the Ulster County Jail on Wednesday afternoon by Chief A. A. Richter who also brought along a five day order for "room and bath" for Charlie which had the "O. K." of Judge Abel of Saugerties.

Packed His Utensils

The chief said Buchanan had been camping in the "jungle" and from the full pack and other personal belongings which he carried with him he apparently was prepared to stay at any point where his desire may have fallen.

Charlie had with him a tent, cooking utensils and other equipment. In fact he had several pans, cans, crocks, skillets and other equipment which is usually found about the hobo "jungles" of our land. Charlie apparently was particular and carried his own stock with him.

Very Varied Career

At the county jail Buchanan was booked as is customary. Asked as to his residence he said he was born in Newark, N. J., but the world was his home now. His occupations he said were numerous. He had been a groceryman and business man and also done many other jobs. He was booked as a clerk. His education was "common school" but he wielded a "mean pen" when he signed the register. As to his religion this had the booking officer stumped for a moment.

"Both" Religions

"What is your religion, Charlie?" asked the officer.

"Both," replied Charlie.

"What do you mean?" asked the officer.

"I want to know what church you were brought up in."

"They feed me best."

"Well, both," said Charlie.

Oppose Licensing Bill

Washington, March 3 (AP)—A spokesman for the National Association of Manufacturers asserted today the Borah-O'Mahoney industrial licensing bill would retard rather than aid recovery.

In a statement prepared for delivery before a Senate Judiciary sub-committee, Elmer T. Cunningham of New York, former president of the Radio Corporation of America, urged that the measure be set aside in favor of a business recovery program he has drafted.

The Borah-O'Mahoney bill, designed as an anti-monopoly measure, would require most industries engaged in interstate commerce to obtain federal incorporation charters and to refrain from trade practices specified as unfair.

James Rowe New President of City Business Group

JAMES ROWE

Election of officers, Spring Opening, parking ground attendant and night-watchman as well as the Apple Blossom Festival supplied plenty of ammunition for discussion this morning at the annual meeting of the Kingston Business Men's Association held at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

James Rowe was elected president of the association to succeed Al Mollott. Elmer Trowbridge was re-elected vice-president and A. C. Flanagan was re-elected to the office of secretary-treasurer.

After his election to the presidency Mr. Rowe told the members that he would work for the interests of the association and Kingston but he wanted every merchant and member of the association to give their support and cooperation.

Appointment of the board of directors, advisory committee and also the various working committees will be made later by President Rowe.

Parking Grounds

The matter of Parking Grounds came up for considerable discussion. There has been a movement of late to get this matter straightened out and the matter at the last meeting was referred to the Parking Ground Committee for action. Since that time the question of responsibility in case of an accident has been investigated.

The matter of insurance to relieve the members of the association of responsibility in the event someone is injured by the attendant or night watchman while in the performance of his duty, was reported.

It was finally agreed that the matter should be left to the committee to see what arrangements might be made and secure the signature of the two new to a contract which had been prepared.

Objection to Contract.

The committee which had the matter under advisement reported that there had been some objection by the two employees to the signing of the contract as drawn because of a clause which made them responsible for any injury which might ensue through an act of an assistant or substitute employee who might assume their duties in their absence from the job. This matter of a revision of the contract was left to the committee.

As a new parking ground committee President Rowe appointed Messrs. Haynes, Fohn, Mollott and Hardenbergh.

While on the question of parking grounds, Mr. Rowe brought to the attention the fact that many of the employees of the stores up town who arrive early at work pick out the best places in the front of the parking grounds to park their cars, making it necessary for customers to seek the distant parking space back of the

Hope Held Out Today For Plane Passengers Down in California

Man Reports Hearing What He Believed to Be a Plane Crash, And Two Shots Two Hours Later.

SEARCH BLOCKED

Raging River Prevents Searchers From Getting Near Scar on Mountain.

Fresno, Calif., March 3 (AP)—A searching party (left) toward a great mountain side to miles east of here today, but snow and torrential rain thwarted an air search for the TWA skyliner which disappeared in a storm Tuesday night with nine persons aboard.

Hope that some of the nine persons might have survived was raised when Bud Rhodes reported to TWA officials that he heard what he believed was a plane crash late Tuesday night, and then heard two shots two hours later.

Rhodes was at his cabin, 15 miles north of Fresno.

The searchers left Camp Hook this afternoon to check the scene where mysterious lights were observed near a white object last night.

A raging river, outgrowth of the storm that engulfed the plane, prevented searchers from reaching the 200-foot scar in the high Sierras at dusk yesterday to investigate mysterious lights and an undistinguishable white object nearby.

Plane Reported Seen

The Fresno county sheriff's office said it had checked and believed authentic reports that the plane set off a flare which lit up the area near the scar about 9:10 Tuesday night. "It was 10 minutes after the flare of a power company official reported she heard a plane at only 200 feet altitude in that vicinity.

The land party search was ordered to start at dawn. Search directors here began mobilization of 22 planes to scan the rugged snow-packed mountains where the transcontinental and western air luxury ship disappeared.

The big, twin-motored (Douglas) craft, carrying six passengers and a crew of three, left San Francisco at 6:33 p. m. Tuesday, bound for Albuquerque, N. M., on a regular flight east.

Because of an approaching storm, the plane headed for Los Angeles instead. Unable to get through the storm, the plane turned back and disappeared while seeking an emergency landing field.

Aboard Craft

Pilot John D. Graves of Alhambra, Calif., a veteran of 7,000 hours and 1,000,000 miles in the air; co-pilot, C. W. Wallace of Tucson, Ariz.; stewardess, Martha M. Wilson, of Philadelphia, and the following passengers:

Tracy Ingram and Mary Lou Dirlam of Manfield, O., brother and sister, attending Stanford University; Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Krueger of Lincoln, Neb.; and H. M. Sabharwal, TWA pilot on leave.

A big scar appearing like a gouge out of the mountainside was approached within a mile and a half yesterday by a party of 20 which set out from a mountain WPA camp near Huntington Lake.

Racing waters in the North Fork of the San Joaquin river blocked the party's approach.

In Good Spirits

San Francisco, March 3 (AP)—Her pelvis fractured in four places, Mrs. Lois Clarke De Ruyter Spreckels Clinton, injured last Friday in a Reno airplane crash, was scheduled to arrive here by train today.

Mrs. Clinton, former wife of Adolph B. Spreckels, Jr., son of the San Francisco sugar family, was put aboard the train on a stretcher. Wearing a plaster cast, the 26-year-old thrice-divorced daughter of Lewis Latham Clarke, New York banker, said she was "feeling fine" and appeared in good spirits.

To Support His Sister

Camden, N. J., March 3 (AP)—William Dillon, 22, was free today to support the sister he widowed. Dillon pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of involuntary manslaughter in the death of his brother-in-law, Frank Whelley, but Mrs. Whelley pleaded with Judge Clifford A. Baldwin not to send her brother to jail.

"I haven't anyone to support me and my two children," she told the judge. Judge Baldwin sentenced Dillon to jail, then suspended sentence.

More Than 50 Feared Dead In Southern California As Result of 5-Day Storm

Nine Missing Aboard Air Liner

John D. Graves, pilot, (left) and Martha M. Wilson, stewardess, (right) were among the nine persons on board a TWA air liner reported on a flight from San Francisco to Los Angeles. The plane was not heard after midnight and was about to land near Fresno because of bad flying conditions. Mrs. Wilson formerly lived in Philadelphia.

Italians Mourn as D'Annunzio Starts Journey to Tomb

Gardone Riviera, Italy, March 3 (AP)—The body of poet-warrior Gabriele D'Annunzio began its journey to the tomb today.

Throughout the night it had lain in state in the court yard outside Vittorale, D'Annunzio's villa. D'Annunzio's widow, the Princess Montre Novos, arrived from Paris soon after midnight last night, and knelt by the body for nearly three hours.

Bonifazio lighted the hills surrounding Vittorale, in accordance with the rite the poet decreed in commemoration of his companions in arms who died in the march on Fiume in Fascism's early days.

Soon after dawn, Premier Mussolini returned from Brescia, where he spent the night, and watched as the body was placed in a simple oak coffin without decoration.

D'Annunzio advanced and knelt the dead man's brow, and the coffin then was sealed.

A cortege of several thousands, including Fascist organizations and war veterans bearing 100 banners, followed the body as it was borne on a caisson to the parish church of San Nicolo.

There D'Annunzio received the benediction of the church which long had disapproved of him for his writings.

The three-inch canon on the bow of the destroyer Pugh, set on the crest of a hill on the D'Annunzio estate, roared repeatedly as the cortege entered the grounds.

The body was placed upon the warship's prow. There was to remain under guard until night. Tomorrow the body will be removed and placed temporarily near the tomb of the poet's mother.

Later it will be given a permanent resting place in a mausoleum yet to be constructed.

Niemoeller Arrested.

Berlin, March 3 (AP)—Authoritative quarters today confirmed that the Rev. Martin Niemoeller, a vigorous opponent of Nazi church policies, had been arrested last night immediately after his release from jail.

The pastor was given technical freedom after conviction of speaking against government leaders and violating public regulations.

It was explained authoritatively, however, that it was necessary to place the Protestant pastor in "protective arrest" because "there is considerable public excitement over the lenient sentence of the court with every likelihood that demonstrations against him would occur."

Foreign observers noticed no particular excitement among the populace yesterday — except, however,

Eighteen Known Dead, 18 Missing But Unconfirmed Reports Swell Total—Some Washed Into Sea.

15 TRAPPED IN CARS

Santa Ana River Sends 15 to Deaths in Autos — Widespread Relief Work.

Los Angeles, March 3 (AP)—Flood-ravaged southern California today saw the possibility that more than 50 persons lost their lives in a four-day storm climaxed by an unprecedented rainfall.

Eighteen persons were known to be dead and eighteen missing, but the number was steadily increased by unconfirmed reports. The exact toll probably never will be known.

An undetermined number of storm spectators were washed into the ocean near Long Beach when the bridge on which the crowd collapsed. The number lost was generally estimated at ten, but an appeal to ships at sea to watch for survivors, or both, said 15 were on the bridge at the time.

Unconfirmed reports raised to 15 the number of persons trapped and drowned in their automobiles when a cloudburst sent the Santa Ana river suddenly rushing over its banks. Originally five were listed as victims in this phase of the widespread disaster.

More Rain Forecast

Moderating conditions but more rain were forecast today. No immediate hope was seen of southern California re-establishing normal contact with the outside world. All regular channels of communication — train, plane, phone, telegraph, bus — were broken by the storm. Radio furnished the only outside contact.

Riverbeds struck by the cloudburst-swollen Santa Ana river, reported 17 percent missing.

The town of Santa Ana, about 20 miles downstream, was inundated by three feet of water. From Santa Ana to Huntington Beach, the river's mouth, communications were out and the limits of destruction could only be guessed.

Refugees Housed

Throughout the rich citrus belt, towns opened theatres and churches to house refugees.

Flood victims in the western district of Riverside, clinging to rooftops and rescued.

The city's power was cut off almost all of last night. There was no telephone or telegraph service.

The number of homeless, estimated at 10,000 in southern California's coastal plain, mounted hourly.

Heavy Loss of Life

Los Angeles, March 3 (AP)—The fury of a death-dealing storm abated in Southern California today, leaving a hundred stricken communities fighting the ravage of floods and counting a mounting loss of lives and property.

Eighteen persons were known to be dead and at least 18 others were missing in the surging storm waters.

At least 10,000 were homeless. Property damage ran into millions of dollars as bridges broke, highways sank, homes collapsed and gardens and ranch acreages were submerged.

The stricken area extended from Ventura on the north to San Juan Capistrano on the south; from the ocean to the San Bernardino mountains which divide Southern California's coastal plain and the desert.

Flooded and washed out traffic arteries and toppled utility lines isolated wide sections.

As the rain, heavier ever recorded here, subsided into sporadic showers at many points, victims cheered a forecast by government meteorologists that the worst was over. Only scattered and light rain was expected today. Rainfall in the last four days here totalled 10.69 inches.

Emergency Mobilization

Seriousness of the flood situation, however, led Mayor Frank L. Shaw of Los Angeles to mobilize the major emergency council. It was organized a year ago to cope with any major disaster in the metropolitan area and coordinate the work of peace officers, relief agencies, war veterans and the National Guard.

Raging down a normally dry course, flinging huge timbers about like matchwood, the Los Angeles river became a weapon of death yesterday.

It crushed a pedestrian bridge at the ocean's edge west of Long Beach and 10 persons were believed carried to death. Three were rescued by navy boats.

Farther north, in the Bell district, a falling power line pole crushed the Gage avenue bridge over the river. Four persons were reported swept away.

Bodies were reported seen in the river, where it curls around

Benedictine One of The Catholic Charities Group

An increase in all branches of service, together with the purchase of new equipment and improvements, marked the 35th year during which Our Lady of Victory Hospital, Kingston, has served the residents of Ulster county, the annual report for 1937 shows. Two hundred forty-four babies were born at the hospital last year, an increase of 44 over the previous year.

Our Lady of Victory Hospital, better known as Benedictine Hospital, under which it was chartered in 1903 by the Sisters of St. Benedict, is one of the 23 general and special hospitals of New York Catholic Charities, all of which are operated on a non-profit basis. The institutions are conducted by Sisters who donate their services and many of whom are registered nurses, technicians and trained workers. All of the hospitals will be included in the annual appeal for funds.

Patients who are able to pay the full hospital charges at Our Lady of Victory Hospital do so while others pay part of the regular rate and those who are unable to pay anything at all are treated free. During 1937 the hospital gave 2,964 days of free care, an increase of 318 over the previous year. The total number of patients treated was 2,202 as compared with 2,654 in 1936.

Among the many community services rendered by Our Lady of Victory Hospital is one deeply appreciated by those in moderate circumstances. This is the establishment of a very low rate for confinement cases. The total cost to the parent is $55 which includes ten days of hospitalization, doctor's services and prenatal care. Clinics are held twice a month during which examinations and advice are given by the many doctors on the hospital's staff.

Among the new equipment at the hospital is a modern, hydraulic, head-end controlled operating room table which enables the surgeon to place the patient at any angle or in any position during the course of an operation. In the second of its two major operating rooms, an additional floor flood light with battery attachment has been installed.

Another expensive improvement at the hospital is a cafeteria for the nurses and the probationers in the nursing school. Built entirely of stainless steel the cafeteria supplies the girls with hot meals at all hours with the added advantage of prompt service. A large urn, also of stainless steel, contains gallons of piping hot coffee, thus eliminating any waits for the "next cup." A modern dish washing machine was installed in the room containing the cafeteria.

A modernized elevator with automatic electric doors was a much needed improvement at the hospital. It was not necessary to purchase an entire new elevator for this, so the one in use was improved and electrified. Originally the elevator was a gift from Martin Cantine and Company in memory of Charles Freeman Cantine.

Aside from these major improvements, minor equipment in various departments was purchased, the floors laid in some sections of the hospital, the delivery room was renovated and a new hot water boiler and tanks in the basement installed.

Due to these improvements and the amount of free and partially free service given by Our Lady of Victory Hospital, the deficit for the year was $29,332. Grand total expenses were $135,045 and charity services extended throughout the year are estimated at $32,010.

"The steady and progressive growth of the hospital," according to Sister M. Berenice, superintendent, "continues to be guided and fostered by our Rev. Mother Monica, whose aim it is to see it serve as a modern and scientific institution in caring for the sick. High praise to the hospitals of the archdiocese for their share in the humane and mammoth work of the Catholic Charities in caring for the sick poor in these none too prosperous times, is given by his Eminence, Cardinal Hayes, and full recognition is accorded to Catholic hospitals by the organization for their contribution of free days of service for needy cases."

Sister M. Callista, principal of the school of nursing at Our Lady of Victory Hospital, reports that the year 1937 opened with an enrollment of 36 students and during the year there were 15 entered as preliminary students. Of the total number, 11 concluded their course and five resigned, leaving, at the end of the year, 35 students and 16 staff nurses.

The school of nursing, which has been in operation many years, is still confronted, Sister Callista states, with the need for larger and more adequate quarters for the nurses. The problem is a vital one which the hospital has not been able to solve due to financial inability, according to the principal.

The Very Rev. Monsignor John J. Stanley is president of the hospital which has a large list of staff and attending physicians.

Says Building Costs are Lower

Commenting on what he termed "unfounded and misleading statements" on construction costs, Fred Fahrlich of Henry A. Olson, Inc., said today that the person who builds or remodels a house now gets more value than ever before, and his building dollar goes considerably farther than it did a few years ago.

The impression that building material costs are too high is a mistaken one, Mr. Fahrlich declared. He cited a recent survey by John Mayville, one of the leading building materials manufacturers which showed that the price of building materials, fixtures and equipment averages 3.8 per cent less than in 1926 and many of the most important materials going into a new house or modernization job are from 20 to 25 per cent less, despite great improvement in quality in the last 12 years.

Mr. Fahrlich explained that 1926 is the year selected by the government as a goal since it best represents the normal American standard of living. Among the materials cited as costing less today in this community are: Yellow pine lumber, latb, Portland cement, window glass, asbestos roofing shingles, asphalt roofing, brass, copper, solder, tin, lime for plaster and mortar, brick, insulating board and hollow tile.

Another important factor is that financing costs, under the FHA type of amortized, single mortgage, are as much as 85 per cent less than during the boom days of 1925-29, he stated. In reviewing the typical house of 1926, he declared that generally it was poorly designed with as much as one-fifth of its space wasted and it took more money to maintain.

RHEUMATISM SUFFERERS

U. S. Veterans' Hospital Finds Successful Treatment

Supply of Colloid Sulphur Rushed Here as Sufferers See New Hope in Scientific Discovery

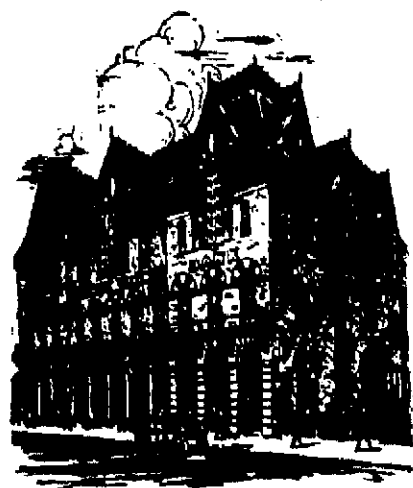

New hope for sufferers from rheumatism and arthritis pain is seen today as a result of the successful tests reported by the U. S. Veterans' Hospital, New York, in over 200 cases, by the use of colloid sulphur.

This form of sulphur goes into the blood 1,000 times faster than ordinary sulphur and reaches to every joint and muscle where it acts like millions of tiny magnets in drawing out pains, swellings, stiffness.

Formerly requiring painful, expensive injections, this new colloid sulphur treatment may at last be obtained in nice, easy-to-take tablets, called G-1019. This is a very expensive medicine, but considering results experienced, the $5 cost for a full 30 day supply is only 16c per day and they are fully guaranteed! Act at once, supply limited. YOUR GREAT OPPORTUNITY TO DRIVE A BETTER CAR

National Used Car Exchange Week begins Saturday, March 5. It is one of the greatest chances you've ever had to own a better car. Thousands of fine cars—many of them guaranteed by dealers—are offered at prices far below trade-in values.

There are many sound reasons why it is to your advantage to buy now. The season is right—spring is just around the corner. The values are right—dealers have an unusually wide selection of good used cars. And the prices are remarkably low—way below those of several months ago.

Here's something else. Many of the cars in this National Used Car Exchange Week are 1937, 1936 and 1935 models with modern features that your old car doesn't have. For cars have improved greatly in the last few years. And this sale gives you the opportunity to have these improvements for very little money.

Better gasoline economy—smoother, more powerful engines—roomier bodies—big tires—big luggage compartments—dozens of worth-while conveniences that weren't even thought of when your old car was built.

Think how you'd enjoy a car like that after the old one! Safety is important, too, for every member of the family. If you're driving a car with an old-style body or unreliable brakes, this is your chance to switch to a safer, more modern car, for very little money. And it's good business to trade-in your old car before you run into a big repair bill.

Your present car may cover the down-payment on the better car you want. Pay the balance on easy terms. If you have no car to trade, you can still take advantage of the low down-payments and easy terms during this sale.

See the classified pages of this newspaper. Visit the used car lot or showroom of any authorized automobile dealer during the week of March 5 to March 12. Get there as early as you can, while the selection is best.

One look at the cars and the prices in this big nation-wide sale will convince you that you can't afford to pass up this remarkable opportunity to DRIVE A BETTER, MORE MODERN CAR.

Woodstock Works To Prevent Cases Of Scarlet Fever

Woodstock, March 3.—The Woodstock board of health and the town health officer have taken measures to prevent the spread of scarlet fever here.

On Monday all teachers in the Woodstock public schools were requested by Town Health Officer Dr. G. W. Bassow to watch all children closely for signs of illness. Those who are ill are to be sent home, particularly for sore throat, and are not to return until a physician has certified that they are free from any contagious disease. So that no family need be without medical attention, a doctor will be provided on application to Town Welfare Officer Bernard Lapo, or to the local board of health, composed of the supervisor and justices of the peace.

Dr. Bassow says: "Scarlet fever is essentially a disease of childhood but adults also can be afflicted. No immunity is established by once having having the disease and it may be had twice, although such cases are rare."

"Sore throat is usually the forerunner of the appearance of a rash on the chest and every one suffering from such symptoms is urged to seek medical attention."

"The state health department and the education department do not advocate, in these modern times, the closing of schools, since it does not help to prevent the spread of an epidemic. If every public building, church, organizations and meeting places were closed then schools should be closed. But this is never done or advocated by the state department of health, except in face of a desperate situation during the outbreak of diseases practically extinct. It is of no point to keep their children out of school unless they are ill, and there is no excuse for such action."

Conway Asks Aid For Bud Festival

Albany, March 3 (Special).—An appropriation of $5,000 to the State Conservation department, for publicity on apples and other fruit grown in this state, is contained in a bill introduced in the Legislature by Assemblyman J. Edward Conway, Republican, of Kingston. The measure has been referred to the Assembly ways and means committee for further consideration.

In the Senate, Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Kingston Republican, has introduced a companion measure to that offered earlier this week in the Assembly by Assemblyman Conway, appropriating $3,000,000 to provide state aid to cities for maintenance and repair of city streets which form a part of the state highway system.

Under provisions of the Conway-Wicks bill, State aid for city street repair and construction would not be made, however, unless the project is first approved by the State superintendent of public works. The bills at present are in the finance committee of the two Houses, awaiting action.

Another Wicks bill just introduced, permits an officer or member of a paid fire department who is a member of the State Employees Retirement System, to contribute on the basis of retirement on completion of 25 years of service. This was sent to Senate pensions committee.

"I NEVER GO NEAR THE FURNACE SINCE WE STARTED USING COKE!"

"EXCEPT on the very coldest days," many users tell us, "I never go near the furnace since we started burning Niagara Hudson Coke. My husband puts on a few shovelfuls night and morning and that's all the attention it requires for steady, healthful heat all day long."

Why is a coke fire so easy to run? Because this modern coke is a man-made fuel, scientifically processed to give most heat per dollar in your furnace or stove. Its special porous structure and higher heat content make every piece burn up completely, with no half-burned lumps and a third less ashes than ordinary solid fuel.

Try coke yourself. Just phone for a trial ton and let our demonstrator show you how quickly it responds to drafts, how easily it banks, how light and clean it is to handle. Then ask yourself whether you can afford any fuel that gives less heat for the money.

BRAVE LITTLE NATIONS

Nazi Germany is not going to have such an easy conquest of her small neighbors as seemed likely after Hitler's sales-talk to Schuschnigg. The Austrian premier has stiffened his spine and the Austrian people are bristling with determination to resist absorption by Germany, although they voted for it after the World War. Rumania obviously wants no Hitlerism, and Czechoslovakia, most in danger after Austria, has been heartened by France's pledge to help her if Hitler challenges her independence. There is little love for Hitler in Hungary and Yugoslavia.

Then there is the brave little group of nations to the northeast of Germany, on the Baltic Sea, that have been expected to make about three bites for Hitler if he started expanding in that direction—Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia. They all pride themselves on their independence. Estonia, placed precariously between Germany and Russia, and touched for a time with "Fuehrer fever," has just adopted a democratic constitution of unusual interest to Americans.

By this charter all citizens of Estonia are free before the law. There are no titles or classes. Homes are inviolable, freedom of conscience and religion is guaranteed, and anyone may express himself freely by "word of mouth, print, script, image and sculpture." Education is compulsory. Individualism is insisted on, but the state itself assumes enlightened social responsibilities in cases where private effort is helpless.

Then there is the always inspiring example of the free Scandinavian countries and the fringe to the west of Germany made by France, Belgium and Holland. It is too soon to despair of continental Europe. "There's life in the old dame yet."

WINGS OF DEMOCRACY.

Pan-Americanism is on the march again, after a period in which many of our Latin-American neighbors seemed to be cooling toward the United States and forming stronger ties with Old World countries. The biggest eye-opener has been the flight of the six great bombing planes from Florida to Buenos Aires in honor of the inauguration of President Ortiz.

As an aviation feat it was notably successful, and is said to have been "the longest and fastest flight ever made by the bombing craft of any nation." As a diplomatic feat it was a triumph. Nothing done by this country, not even the visit of President Roosevelt to the Pan-American conference, has ever roused so much enthusiasm among the Argentinians.

"Welcome to the aviators of democracy!" said a local newspaper in an eight-column streamer across the front page, with the letters in stars-and-stripes design. It continued with this unprecedented tribute:

Not one of them carries on his conscience the remorse of having put his courage or his technical experience at the service of destruction or crime. None has been bombed cities; none has spread horror and death among defenseless women and children. They have not flown into foreign territory with imperialistic aims to subject and terrorize their fellow-men.

They have come here on a mission of good-will, and nothing connected with their splendid trip is in any way suggestive of the spirit that has brought other flyers to these shores.

Only on rare occasions is it possible to extend a welcome with the sincerity we feel today in greeting these American aviators. Every man and woman in this country who cherishes democracy and freedom will be sorely missing this salutation to the aviators of peace who bring us a new message of true democracy.

All we can say to that is: "Muchas gracias!"

IRISH PROBLEMS

It seems like old times to read that an Anglo-Irish talk is getting nowhere. But there is a change. Today De Valera is urging a British government to insist that a group of Irish—the North Irishmen—unite with the Free State. The Ulsterites are holding out against such union. Most strangely, a British government refuses to coerce Irishmen. The Free Staters insist on their own right to break away from Great Britain, but do not grant the Northern Irish the same right to choose their loyalty. De Valera protests the mistreatment of minorities in North Ireland, although he has not always been considerate of minorities in the Free State.

It is a pity to argue too long over a boundary line, when there is so much of more constructive value awaiting official attention. Commercial and financial relationships between Eire and the British government need adjustment. Some defense agreement is necessary. With all that De Valera has won for the Free State, he might well give up for a time his insistence on political unity with his northern opponents, and concentrate on cooperation for problems affecting their mutual good.

SORE THROAT

Some years ago it was common practice to send a child to a hospital near home to see children attending a throat clinic Saturday morning. I have the tonsils "snipped" off and the youngster back to school the following Tuesday or Wednesday. Large tonsils were all removed in those days.

Today while a great many youngsters have their tonsils removed, it is usually because they have a sore throat often, or the tonsils are interfering with their breathing. Most physicians now believe that the tonsils are of value in filtering poisons from the blood and that they are best left in until the danger of all the diseases of childhood has passed.

What about tonsils? Why should they be removed if Nature has a use or purpose for them? Does removal of tonsils prevent diseases or make them less dangerous if they do occur?

As rheumatism and heart disease are the serious ailments following infected tonsils it would be well to consider the effect of the removal of tonsils from this standpoint.

A report of the research study of 48,000 school children by Dr. A. D. Kaiser, Rochester, N. Y., who has done a great amount of research study on this question is given in the Journal of Laboratory and Clinical Medicine. Dr. Kaiser states that while rheumatic disease occurs in children who have had their tonsils removed, it is less likely (by 25 to 35 per cent) to occur in those who have had their tonsils removed than in those who still have their tonsils.

It was also shown that when rheumatism did occur in those whose tonsils were removed the chances of developing heart disease were less.

Finally, the study made of 597 rheumatic children showed that the death rate among children whose tonsils were still in during the rheumatic fever was 13 per cent and only 7 per cent among those whose tonsils were out at the time of the first attack of rheumatism.

"Statistics and the experience of physicians studying this question justify the removal of the tonsils in practically every rheumatic child; but the operation should not be done during an acute attack of rheumatism."

I have quoted Dr. Kaiser's study before but I believe the relationship of sore throat, rheumatism and heart disease should never be forgotten.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY
BY ALAN LEMAY

SYNOPSIS: Our unexpressed love for a young English girl has kept my uncle, James Clyde, and myself (Paul Thomas) in tropical Balingang through a Dyak revolt and Malay defeat. Christine Forrester, visioning a great empire here, has made Clyde rajah. Famine strikes, and war threatens with the predatory Malays. The last outrage means an open break with Rentongen, the sultan's representative.

Chapter 39
Rentongen's Revenge

SAID at last, "I suppose I'd better go bring in those Malays." "Yes," he said; "yes, of course."

I turned away, tightening my belt and getting ready to go out into the roar of falling water, but he stopped me. "Wait! It's no good. No use doing that."

"Sir," I said, "if we let this thing pass, we'll never regain the face we'll lose."

"I know that," he agreed. "But the root is somewhere else. I'm going to end this, Paul, one way or the other. Go bring in Rentongen."

I got Rentongen. It was hard to bring him alone, he was almost never separated from five to six ugly-faced krismen, whom he liked to have dog his every step. But I took him a little aside, and advised him that he perhaps would not like to have anyone else with us to hear what the Rajah Clyde had to say. He gave me the most evil stare I have ever seen, but he came, and he came alone.

I was surprised at what James Clyde said then. For a long time the Malays had learned to depend upon the fact that in the white man's code of justice an accusation must always be supported by water-tight proof, else nothing can be done. And they had readily learned to take advantage of that, by intimidation of witnesses and other ways, until justice was possible to get. I suppose that I myself had become accustomed to think of the necessity of proof as an obstacle which could not be overcome.

But this time all that was brushed aside. Clyde did not even tell Rentongen what he was angry about, though of course Rentongen knew.

"Shah Bandar Rentongen," Clyde said, "I have had enough. From this moment you are no longer Shah Bandar. Hereby banish you from Balingang forever, and all your property is confiscated in the name of the Raj. Go back and tell your sultan you have failed."

At this unbelievable audacity, Rentongen seemed stunned. He stared at Clyde, and his mouth opened to protest.

"Be silent," my uncle told him without raising his voice. "You and all your household will be out of here before sundown. You will take with you in your praus your kries and the clothes you wear. Nothing more."

"And if I do not go?"

"I have given you a chance to leave with dignity," Clyde said. "If you do not go, I will go to your man and prepare myself to die fighting, because I will surely hunt you down."

Rentongen stood with his hands on his hips, staring at Clyde; and there was such a savage blaze of hate in his eyes that I was certain he would leap upon my uncle.

Behind me eight of the 12 Tenyalang I still had in Balingang were seated cross-legged in a row. Without any sound these now stood up. Their rifles were cocked and their elbows muzzled high, as they had been taught; and the muzzles of those rifles were quivering like the shimmer of heat. Yet I do not think that they were afraid; eager, rather, their animal eyes upon the Shah Bandar's blue-turbaned head.

The Worst Spot

RENTONGEN did not glance at them, but undoubtedly he was very much aware that they were there. If he had dropped to the hilt of his kris he would certainly have gone down, shot apart by the eight guns. Clyde and the Malay chief faced each other many minutes in this way.

Rentongen turned at last and left us without a single word; and though I believed then that he would surely fight, perhaps raising an attack against us which we would hardly be able to withstand, this did not occur. An hour before sundown, Rentongen's praus took to the river silently, and well within his allotted time he was on the open sea.

When Rentongen was gone I immediately prepared for what we knew was ahead. Not for one moment did we fall into the fallacy of thinking that Rentongen might return to Saremba, empty-handed and humiliated, by his sultan. Regardless of the rainy deluge we would have war now, and have it quick.

I sent the fastest praus I could command, and the fastest jungle runners, to recall certain of the Tenyalang to my own command.

What is Paul walking into? Read tomorrow's chapter.

Historic Churches of Ulster

(In conjunction with the Ulster County Apple Blossom Festival, May 6, 7, 8.)
Dutch Reformed Church, St. Remy

Freeman Photo

The quaint little Dutch Reformed Church of St. Remy was organized and built in 1856 through the efforts of the Hon. A. Bruyn Hasbrouck and his son Lawrence Hasbrouck who donated the land to the consistory of the newly organized church for the purpose of constructing a place of worship.

The Hasbrouck family were among the earliest settlers in this section and they owned considerable land in the vicinity of the church. According to some old records, the Hasbroucks were established in this locality about 1762, and part of the homestead owned by them is still preserved in its original state and is now in the possession of Mrs. Herman A. Kelley. Mrs. Kelley is an enthusiastic gardener and has developed the grounds surrounding the old house and in the vicinity of the church into a beautiful place for many social gatherings.

First Years of Church

At the time the St. Remy Reformed Church was established it was considered a part of the membership of the Esopus Reformed Church of Ulster Park, a community located on a separate through route but closely connected with St. Remy by a crossroad. In later years a number of members were added to the congregation who came from the Dutchess Reformed Church.

The first officiating clergyman was the Rev. James McFarlane who served a period of three years from 1857 to 1860. Through the years of its existence, the little church has been served by a dozen ministers, the last one being the Rev. Philip Goertz of the Port Ewen Reformed Church who has since accepted a charge in Washington. At the present time the Rev. Cornelius P. Mayskens of the Reformed Church of The Comforter in Kingston, is the supervisor appointed by the Classis of Ulster to minister to the church and hold regular services until such a time as another minister is chosen.

The Church Building

The original church structure of 1856 was the front part of the present building. In later years a lodge organization sponsored the construction of an addition on the rear which is now used as a Sunday School room, and makes the floor plan of the church of today practically that of a cross.

The interior of the church presents a very pleasing appearance. There is an aisle down the center with pews arranged on each side. The pulpit is situated on a raised platform directly facing the entryway and the ceiling is of high arched paneled architecture.

The bell in the little steeple which calls the people of the community to worship each Sunday was presented to the church some years past by an organized Sunday School class under the jurisdiction of Mrs. Edgar Ellsworth.

Today the church is an active organization which includes a combined Ladies' Aid and Missionary Society and a Christian Endeavor Society.

The various organizations are making plans to appropriately celebrate the Ulster County Apple Blossom Festival on each of the three days and "we'll have you know," said one prominent resident, "that in St. Remy we produce the finest apples of any place in Ulster county—and we can prove it!"

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Occasionally there shuffles up to the curb a panhandler with a new and refreshing argument. Such a browser stepped smartly up to Bob Ripley and touched him on the arm.

"Pardon me," he said, "can you let me have 35 cents for a cup of coffee?"

"Thirty-five cents? Coffee costs only a nickel."

"Yeah," I know," replied the bum, "but I've got to get my tuxedo pressed."

It is Joe Rines who tells this one on himself. Joe was pretty much in need of sleep and was gratefully pounding his ear the other night when a terrific racket brought him angrily back into this world.

Donning his robe, the band leader rushed next door and gave the unthinking merry-makers a blistering dressing down.

"Say," ejaculated the fellow, "aren't you Joe Rines?"

"Well, yes I am," replied Rines, somewhat mollified. "What about it?"

"Gosh, I think you're the greatest band leader in New York. I was just playing some of your records."

Tell me, when that trumpet goes to-ta-te-te-ti-ti, what is that bell-like noise in the background?"

Several hours later, when Joe got back to his own room, he wasn't a bit mad.

THERE'S a legend that a fortune has been accumulated in a downtown bank, small sums left there by sailors who were lost at sea or otherwise disappeared. At least, so the story goes, they never came back and all efforts to communicate with heirs have met with failure.

Except for the trifling drawback of being untrue, this is a charming fable and belongs with the rest of Broadway's Mother Goose stories.

I have heard also and read in the reports of my colleagues from time to time of gnarled old hags out of witch tales who brew nameless potions in blackened pots under the gloomy arches of Brooklyn Bridge, but I have never been so fortunate as to encounter them. They have been described as toothless and leaning on crooked sticks and mumbling incantations while stirring these mysterious broths. I guess I don't get around enough.

A SPORTS writer in New York triples his income making records for a phonograph company. However, he croons these ditties under an assumed name. . . . There are only 4,000 words in all of Italian opera, yet the new English dictionary lists 360,000 words.

Storm And Roars

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

WILLY NILLY hurried home to his animal friends who were waiting for him in the house in Puddle Muddle. They enjoyed sitting around the fire while the storm raged outside. They enjoyed hearing about wild animals having to travel even as far as the Empty House. They felt cosier and safer, somehow, where they were.

But as they sat there the roar of King Lion could be heard joined by the roars of the other lions. The noise fairly rocked Puddle Muddle. "I'm not afraid," bleated Sweet Face, but he hurriedly drew closer to Willy Nilly's side.

"The storm doesn't bother us," quacked Mrs. Quacko, "when all of us are so comfortable here." But her feathers shook a little as more and more came the lions' roars. The ducklings trembled a little and drew closer to the wings of the older ducks.

"I'm not bothered by any of this at all," cawed Christopher Columbus Crow, but he seemed to enjoy his perch on the back of Willy Nilly's chair.

"Nothing will hurt us," barked Rip softly, but then how nice it was to have Willy Nilly's hand on his head as he put his head on the lap of the little man.

"I wouldn't even mention being nervous," cackled Top Notch, for he was not going to let any one get the better of him. Besides he knew that they were all a little nervous, all boasting a trifle. They were sure they were safe but the roars of the lions were very powerful, indeed.

And the storm raged and the roars continued. It was a wildly noisy night for the quiet Puddle Muddlers.

Popularity of Tulips

Tulips are used in the annual festival in Turkey. The tulip mania in Holland was similar to the stock market craze of later times. Tulips became popular overnight and it is this day they are grown in practically every country. Persian mythology has it that if a swain gave a tulip to his betrothed it would signify his love. The deeper and more vivid the color the greater and more intense was his affection for her.

If Germany wants to goose-step behind Hitler, that's all right with us; but if he expects us to look at his picture without laughing, he should shave off that moustache.

PREVIEWED

Broadway: "International Settlement." Set against the background of the Chinese-Japanese undeclared war, this thrilling melodrama has to do with four people who seek fame and great riches in the war ridden orient and during the excitement some meet sudden death, dishonor and disaster. But the usual film formula triumphs after all the bloodshed and the hero and heroine merge unthinkingly after a hectic time of it. The cast features Dolores DelRio, George Sanders, Gene Lang and Richard Baldwin.

Kingsdon: "Crashing Hollywood" and "Hitting a New High." A story of inside Hollywood and an unknown seeking fame in the movie capital forms the interest on the first attraction at the Kingsdon while Lily Pons sings and acts nobly as the star of the second picture. Here are two average double features.

Orpheum: "They Won't Forget." Gloria Dickson, Claude Rains, Allyn Joslyn, Edward Norris and Otto Kruger struggle through this weighty melodrama of broken lives and human hates and the plot structure is held together by the skill of Mervyn LeRoy's direction. Selected short offerings complete the program.

After Mr. Yocan's selection on the piano with the Misses Jane Gilderleeve, Helen Kennedy and Marlene Davis in a tap specialty, John Valentine played for the following selections: Graceful contortions, by Miss Janice Denike; tap team posin', by Miss Muriel Ferraro and James Amendola; ballet scarf dance, by Miss Ruth Deyo; variety in rhythms, by Paul Yocan; acrobatic dance, by Miss Janice Denike; waltz tap with Miss Doris Kennedy, and a modern shag novelty by Miss Marianne Davis and Paul Yocan.

Camera Club to Include County

At the last regular meeting of the Kingston Camera Club held Tuesday evening at the Y.M.C.A., much important business was transacted. It was decided to broaden the scope of the club by including all of Ulster county rather than limiting itself to the city. Accordingly, it was voted to change the name of the club to the "Ulster County Photographic Society." Henry C. Hartman, Bloomington, was unanimously re-elected president. Arthur Ewig, past secretary, declined re-nomination and William H. Pretsch, 72 Presidents Place, Kingston, was unanimously elected secretary. E. T. Bookwalter, Y. M. C. A.,

Kingston, was unanimously elected treasurer. It was decided to hold the annual photographic exhibit during the Apple Blossom Festival in May. Members of the society will exhibit prints the same as before, but this year it has been decided to conduct a county-wide contest. The best prints from which will be hung in the exhibit for final judging. Further details regarding this contest will be announced later and entry blanks can then be procured from officers of the society. Prints to be exhibited must not be smaller than 5"x7" or larger than 11"x14". It was also decided to hold meetings on every second and fourth Tuesday of the month at 8:30 p. m. Regular outings and camera hikes will be planned and further details regarding these will be announced from time to time.

Following the business discussion, Mr. Hartman gave a most instructive lecture on pictorial composition, illustrating his talk with several excellent snow scenes of the recent ice jam on the Rondout. There was much discussion regarding the paper negative process which most of the members of the club are working with at present.

The Ulster County Photographic Society will be glad to welcome any one interested in photography and those desirous of joining may obtain further information from the following: S. Rudisch, 281 Fair street, phone 3840; E. T. Bookwalter, Y. M. C. A., phone 1100; William Pretsch, 72 Presidents Place, phone 3540.

It was agreed that the employees who park all day in the grounds should be asked to park at the rear of the lot and allow the customers the nearby spaces. This would avoid much of the necessity of the attendant moving cars about the grounds and lessen the liability of accidents.

State Works on Resort Publicity

Albany, N. Y., March 3 (AP)—Wintery blasts may still be blowing but New York State's Bureau of Publicity is thinking about the "good old summertime."

Preparations are already under way by the bureau for the publishing of new and comprehensive literature telling of the Empire State as a vacationland during the coming summer months. The Bureau recently closed its winter program during which thousands of skiers and winter sports enthusiasts were attracted to the State's 100 winter resort centers. Requests already have been sent to more than 1,000 sources of information throughout the state in preparation for collecting material for the summer books. An intensive newspaper and magazine advertising campaign describing the state's wonders will be launched late in the spring.

Last year a total of 250,000 booklets were distributed free to persons writing to the Bureau during the summer campaign. It was estimated that nearly 8,000, 900 persons visited New York State during June, July and August of 1937.

Industrial News Suspends; Stocks Down Wednesday

The New York Daily Investment News, after nearly nine years has suspended publication.

With the business recession intensifying their problem of making ends meet and the "obscurity of the outlook" a factor the publishers have decided to call it quits. They state that they have arranged with the Wall Street Journal, leading financial publication in the United States, to fill unexpired subscriptions.

With transfers small, total being 119,000 shares, stocks eased off yesterday. Industrials were down 1.03 points, to 129.38 on the Dow-Jones averages; falls declined 0.31, to 29.71; utilities lost 0.21, to close at 19.70. Corporate bonds were lower and Government bonds eased. Foreign markets continued quiet. Sugar was weak as Secretary Wallace stated that price of sugar was high enough, if not too high and that 1938 quotas would not be reduced. Other commodities were easier.

New Deal propaganda aimed at business has been denounced by Matthew Woll, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor. He reiterates his faith in the present capitalist system assails government incursions into private industrial activity and says, "Our experience during the past five years has proven conclusively that government spending can only supply temporary relief." He says that the spending of vast sums in relief will not restore to workers their jobs in industries.

January profit of U. S. Gypsum is reported at $108,000 compared with $552,000 a year ago. Chairman Avery said that January and February sales were 25 per cent under the same months a year ago. Despite the showing directors declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents on common and $1.75 on preferred.

After an inventory write-off of $1,647,000 U. S. Rubber earned $8,607,000, or $2.21 a share, in 1937; compared with $10,172,451, or $3.51 on a different number of shares in preceding year. The company plans a bond issue of $45,000,000, in recapitalization more that will pay in way for dividend payments on common stock.

American Express, including subsidiaries, had net income of $2,300,360, or $1.78 a share in 1937, compared with $1,346,006, or $1.02 a share in 1936. Other income reports included: American Stores $495,634 in 1937, or 38 cents a share, vs. $2,045,587, or $1.57 a share in 1936. Calumet & Hecla Copper, 92 cents a share vs. 42 cents. Container Corp. $2.28 a share (change in shares outstanding) vs. $1.97.

The Glass-McCord bill introduced in the Senate Wednesday would give FDIC broad powers over bank holding firms; bars new units or expansion of present ones.

$10,000 Fire On Berengaria

New York, March 3 (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin early today swept the luxurious first-class lounge of the Cunard liner Berengaria, causing damage which firemen estimated at more than $10,000.

Smoke routed many of the 150 passengers who had come aboard the vessel last night, and they fled to upper decks.

Under the glare of power searchlights, the crew, aided by two fireboats and three land fire companies, fought the blaze for three hours. One fireman was injured slightly.

The vessel, which docked at her 50th street pier early yesterday, had been scheduled to sail for Europe today.

The fire was the second the Berengaria has suffered in three weeks.

When she docked at Southampton, England, on February 14, several of her cabins were damaged by a blaze.

Golas Strangles Self.

San Quentin, Calif., March 3 (AP)—Meyer Golas, 32, who threw San Quentin prison into an uproar several months ago by an uproarious act in the prison yard, strangled himself to death in his cell, prison authorities said early today.

50 Feared Dead In 5-Day Storm

The edge of Universal Studio in San Fernando Valley. The number was not established. Hours later, the body of a 50-year-old woman was washed up on the river bank near Elysian Park.

5 Motorists Drown
Five motorists were believed drowned at Riverside when their cars were engulfed by the rising Santa Ana river.

A wall of water rushing down Lytle Creek near San Bernardino claimed the lives of three men, a woman and a boy.

Landslides and floods caused other deaths in southern counties. Northern and central California also felt the effects of the storm, but conditions there were not so serious.

The Pajaro river, which borders Watsonville, rose suddenly and waters poured into the lower half of the city through a 200 foot break in the levee made by a flood February 12. Residents were warned to evacuate the lower section.

Many Hollywood film players were marooned by flood waters. The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences annual merit awards banquet, scheduled for tonight, was postponed until March 10.

Virtually the entire southern California area was thrown into darkness for more than 15 minutes last night when a break occurred in the 32-mile power line from Boulder Dam. The light failure caused an interruption in nation-wide broadcasting programs originating in Hollywood.

250 Families Evacuate
In Santa Paula, 250 families were evacuated from a 12-block area in the southern section of the city where water ran four feet deep. The water was as high as when the St. Francis Dam broke March 13, 1928, with a loss of more than 400 lives.

Flood conditions in Pasadena were reported the worst in the last decade. The city experienced a rainfall of an inch an hour for 13 consecutive hours. A wooden bridge over the Arroyo Seco, near Pasadena, collapsed, marooning 20 homes and drowning an unidentified man.

United States Army trucks from civilian Conservation Corps camps in southern California were kept busy throughout the night evacuating families marooned in cautions and lowlands.

About half of the 10 acre Doheny Park at San Clemente was washed into the ocean by a cloud-burst.

Service Halls.

Service over several lines of the Pacific Electric Railway had to be abandoned. Monrovia, Glendora and other foothill communities were cut off from transportation with Los Angeles. Three transcontinental railroads suspended operations because of bridge washouts and flooded lines.

San Bernardino was completely isolated. Many residents of the suburban community of Venice, on the ocean front west of Los Angeles, were literally forced to swim to safety.

Floods caused extensive damage also in northern California communities.

Near Fresno, in the San Joaquin Valley, the Kings river forced many families in Centerville from their homes. Madras, 30 miles north of Fresno, faced its most serious flood threat in years because of the rise of the Fresno and Chowilla rivers.

Communication Breaks.
All transportation between San Francisco and Los Angeles was disrupted by torrential rains. Telephone and telegraph lines to Los Angeles were all broken.

With more rain predicted today, dwellers in the Kings river Valley watched the river anxiously for a further rise. The river was near flood stage.

Along the California coast, storm signals still flew and high southern winds drove big waves against the shore.

Typical March Weather Here

Following the springlike weather of Wednesday, the mercury began dropping early this morning as cold weather rode into the city on a high wind, driving the temperature down to a low of 18 degrees above zero. It seemed much colder as the wind that swirled through the city's streets was sharp and chill. The weather man had promised rain and warmer, but the prediction failed to be realized.

Storm Warning.
Washington, March 3 (AP)—The weather bureau issued the following storm warning today: "Advisory 10:30 a. m. Northeast storm warnings ordered Delaware Breakwater to Nantucket, Mass., and small craft warnings indicated south of Delaware Breakwater to Virginia Capes and north of Nantucket to Eastport, Me. Disturbance moving eastward over southern Appalachia region and Middle Atlantic States in conjunction with strong area of high pressure over Ontario and western Quebec will be attended by strong northerly winds diminishing late tonight or Friday morning."

Pay Phone for Police

Nauticoke, Pa., March 3 (AP)—A pay telephone plagued local police today. The telephone company, asserting the borough had failed to pay its bills, cut off outgoing service in the borough building and installed a new pay telephone. Now police can receive phone calls free—but it costs them a nickel to make one themselves.

Sacramento, Calif., will celebrate its centennial from February to December, 1933.

Central P. O. May Move on March 12

Although no definite date has been fixed as yet, it is expected that the Central post office, which has been located in the former Lown Garage building on upper Broadway, while the new addition was being added to the Central post office building, will move into the remodeled central office on Saturday, March 12.

The work of moving back into the Central post office will be on a Saturday at the close of business so that the post office will be ready to reopen in the remodeled building the following Monday morning.

New Submarine Trials

Portsmouth, N. Named The Snapper, the undersea craft was completed officially two days ago. She had been under construction since December, 1935.

Famous Winter
Forum Speaker

LUDWIG LORE.

Ludwig Lore, nationally known lecturer and writer on subjects pertaining to world politics as well as the American labor and political movements, will address Temple Emanuel Men's Club and Jewish Youth Alliance at 8:15 at the Temple. He came to the United States in 1901 from Germany, where, after attending the University of Berlin, he had worked with some of the great newspapers of the German capital.

In America he immediately became politically active and again taking up his chosen field of journalism became associated with and later editor for 25 years of the daily New York Volkszeitung. In that capacity he kept his fingers on the pulse of world affairs from a particularly advantageous vantage point. He has known personally and interviewed many of the men throughout the world who are making history today. On-the-ground contact with the situations which loom so large in the press today has given him an insight into the motive springs of world politics by few in America.

Mr. Lore's column, "Behind the Cables," appearing daily in the New York Post and the Philadelphia Record, has won a wide and a faithful following of those who want facts—undiluted by propaganda and who value an accurate and objective evaluation of international trends. He has contributed articles on special subjects to such magazines as The Nation, Harpers Magazine, Current History, Foreign Affairs, The New Republic, etc., as well as to the foreign press.

one of the town constables. The peace and harmony of our community seems well assured under the watchful eye of this well qualified peace officer.

SNOW WHITE

First Showing in this territory, direct from the Radio City Music Hall, New York—Breaking all time records.

If you have ever read Grimm's folk tales—and who hasn't?—there's a real treat coming for you when "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" will be shown at the Broadway Theatre. More important yet is the fact that "Snow White" is produced in Technicolor by Walt Disney in full feature length! It is an event in film history ranking in significance with the birth of the first talkie! It's not only a delightful vision of Gnomeland and its wonderful Little People screened with marvelous beauty, and sizzling with rollicking comedy, but is dramatically appealing. The story of the jealous Queen's attempted murder of the Little Princess, who is valiantly aided by her tiny pals, the dwarfs, is a genuine thriller with trenchant appeal for young and old!

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL
BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisons waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day of about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling up, night urinating, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Don's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Don's Pills.

ADD PERSONAL NOTES

Miss Mary E. Matthews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Matthews of Richmond Park, this city, and a senior at Wellesley College, will reap the fruits of her efforts as Chairman of the committee on General arrangements for the Wellesley senior promenade on Friday night, March 4, when the promenade will take place in Alumni Hall.

Always a big social event, the interest of the prom is this year intensified by the fact that it is the first senior prom to be held on a Friday instead of a Saturday night, and hence, the first which has been allowed to continue past midnight. The decorations for the ball-room will be those of a spring garden. The orchestra is Count Basie's, a negro band which played last summer at the Ritz in New York city. Sophomores, the "little sisters" of the seniors, will act as maids, serving the midnight supper. Miss Matthews is a prominent member of her class, being a member of the Agora Society, one of Wellesley's six societies which take the place of sororities.

Bargain hunting in seeds is a pastime that the smart seed buyer will have no part in, for hard experience has taught him that there is no such thing as a "bargain" in seeds, declares Prof. M. T. Mann, in charge of the seed testing laboratory at the State Experiment Station at Geneva. Cheap seeds are cheap because they lack some essential quality that makes for value in planting.

Follow Tips for Charming Letters

Our letters! If we were present when they're opened—how surprised and mouthed some of us would be.

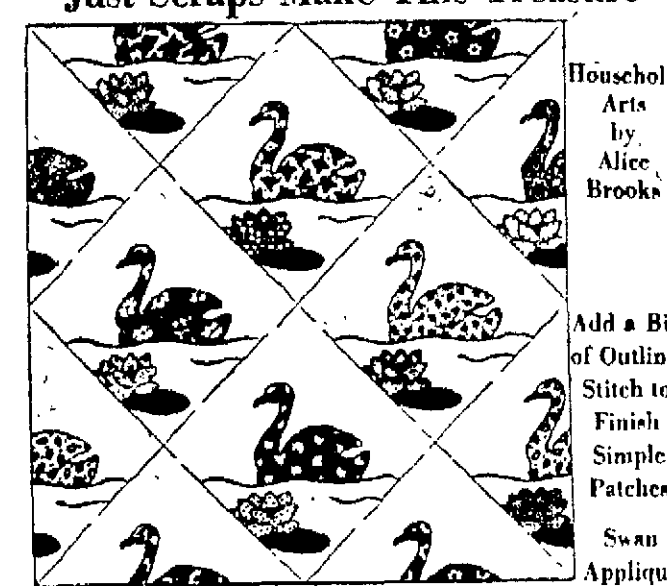

Take the Mrs. Jones whose letter the Fields are discussing. She dashes off crude phrases and never realizes how dreadful they look in black and white, especially to people who know her only slightly. Mrs. Field may forgive an old friend for a note like this—but she forgives Mrs. Jones, whom she's met only once.

Yours respectfully,

Charlie, Hobo, Gets 5 Days and Bath

was born a Protestant but they both feed me. Just now I am a Catholic, they feed me best."
As the history of the case progressed he was asked what his occupation now was and he said, "That is no occupation," said the booking officer.
"You try it once and see if it isn't an occupation," replied Charlie as he blinked his eyes. "If you had to get out on the road, you would know what it was."
On to the Showers.
With Charlie's kitchen, bedroom and bath stowed away in the corner of the receiving room the next thing was to search the man before he was sent to the showers. This was quite a task. Charlie not only carried all of his culinary equipment on his back but like-wise his wardrobe was also carried on his back. As he peeled off to be searched it was discovered he was an expert. Then came four sack coats, a vest, a couple of shirts and a peculiarly colored garment underneath. Four pairs of trousers were searched next. Just how many pairs of socks can be told since they were in a state of bad repair and each pair was not entirely distinct in itself. Money in Bank, or Some Place.
"Any money, Charlie?" asked the attendant.
"Not with me. If I had any money they would kill me," said Mr. Buchanan. "I got some in a bank or someplace though," he replied as he started off to the showers.
As he passed down the corridor on his way to what apparently was his first contact with water since last summer he was heard to mumble to the attendant, "I can't stand cold water, hope you got plenty of hot water."
The Inky Way.
After a delousing spray, a bath and a change of linen Charlie was taken to his room for a five-day sojourn. As the inky waters from Charlie coursed their way down the drain there was a far different looking man standing before the deluge. "What a difference clean linen and a bath can make to a man," mused the trustee as he saw Charlie being escorted to his room.
Fresh?—Well, Maybe.
The complaint against Charlie was that of vagrancy, but he admitted that he might have gotten "fresh" with the Saugerties officer just prior to the arrest.

Lenten Services At St. Joseph's

Throughout the Lenten season at St. Joseph's Church on Thursday evenings, the Rev. Father Nicholas will deliver the sermons. Father Nicholas is a famous preacher and most interesting in his talks. His subjects are clean-cut and appeal not only to the Catholic, but to the non-Catholic as well, the parishioners of St. Joseph's are very fortunate in having secured such an able lecturer for the Lenten season.
Father Nicholas is by no means a stranger to the people of St. Joseph's, having delivered the sermon at the mid-night Mass on last Christmas Day. Those who were fortunate enough to hear him then will be delighted on hearing of his coming here again. He is now located with the Capuchin Fathers in their new province at Providence, R. I. It was in 1926 that the Capuchin Order located in Providence, and it was from there the faithful parishioners set out and accomplished such noble work throughout the New England States.
The course of sermons to be delivered by Father Nicholas are summed-up in these four words: "Secret of True Greatness." The dates and titles of his discourses are as follows:
Thursday night, March 10—"The Value of Ideals."
Thursday night, March 17—"Cultivation of Character."
Thursday night, March 21—"The Spirit of Compassion."
Thursday night, March 28—"An Early Guide."
Thursday night, April 7—"A Friend in Heaven."
Thursday night, April 14—"Our Source of Strength."

No Cases Ready For Judge Bergan

Justice Bergan will find no "ready" cases on the Supreme Court calendar next Monday afternoon when he calls the calendar on the opening day of the March trial term. There were no cases ready on the part of both plaintiff and defendant on the call of the calendar by the clerk of the court Tuesday afternoon.
A number of cases were marked "trial" but none were ready for the opening day of the court. Jurors will report Monday morning at 11 o'clock and after the roll is called and those presenting legal excuses have been dismissed, the grand jury will enter upon its organization and the trial jurors will be returned at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. At that hour the day calendar will be made up.

Carter Appeals To County Court

Wesley Carter of North street, Kingston, has taken an appeal to County Court from a judgment of conviction had in Justice of the Peace John Watzka's court in town of Ulster. Plaintiff and Kaercher appear for appellant. Raymond Mino appeared for The People.
The appeal is from a conviction had January 7, 1938, when appellant was fined $15 for reckless driving. The act allegedly took place last July at Flatbush avenue when the appellant's car and that of Frank Cozenza, complainant, collided.

Past Commander Invited to Legion Birthday Party

Past National Commander Edward B. Spafford of New York has been invited by Commander Harry L. Kirchner of Kingston Post, American Legion, to be a guest at the Post's and Post Auxiliary Birthday Party planned for the evening of March 15 at Spinnys in Port Jervis. The committee in charge of arranging the affair felt that due to the friendship between Past National Commander Spafford and Kingston Post members, it would be a nice gesture to invite him to the birthday party. It was during "Spaf's" term of office as national commander of the Legion that the Kingston Post Drum Corps made its initial bow before a national convention. San Antonio in 1925 was the event and it was Commander Spafford who singled out the Kingston Drum Corps to lead the parade and act as his own drum corps. Members of the Drum Corps who were present still remember the thrill when they were told to move up ahead and lead the parade under special orders of Commander Spafford. The drums are rapidly being completed to make this birthday party, which marks the anniversary of the founding of the American Legion 19 years ago in Paris, an outstanding event in Kingston Post history. Past Commander L. C. Elmendorf, a member of the committee, is endeavoring to bring together all of the past commanders of Kingston Post and at an elected time, each past commander will cut into the birthday cake adorned with 19 candles. March 15, the date of the party, also marks the 18th anniversary of the founding of Kingston Post. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Post is cooperating in an effort to make this a real Legion set-together. Legion get-togethers are famous for their abundance of fun and frolic and a good time is assured to all attending. The affair will be informal but conducted in very good taste. Dancing to the strains of the Avalon Swing Band, with a New York floor show at 10:30 p. m., an address by the national commander of the Legion at midnight, are some of the highlights scheduled. Spinnys has just recently been beautifully redecorated and the night club atmosphere should add considerably to the color of the event.
A meeting of the committee in charge of arranging the affair will meet at the Legion Building this evening and go over the plans. Tickets are available at the Legion Building or from members of the committee.

Christadelphians Meet for Social

Tonight, starting at 8:15 the Christadelphians of the Christian Endeavor Society convene in the lower assembly hall for their first social since organization. The committee in charge promises a good time for all who attend. According to the social committee a short business session will open the program in order to clear up some back transactions which have come since the last meeting. After this the committee will take over full charge with games and refreshments occupying the rest of the evening's calendar.
Probably the most exciting on tonight's program will be a "Professor Quiz" that will be enacted as on the radio on Saturday nights. The one in charge of this has informed the chairman that he has about 80 questions to ask some easy and some just a little hard. For the boy and girl who wins there will be a handsome prize for each. Next will be a spelling bee and this too should provide plenty of laughs for the assemblage. With the cooperation of Mrs. William McVey the club members will have hosts of other games in which to take up time. After this shuffle board and darts will be played. Refreshments will conclude the program. All members are urged to be on hand for this initial social.

PERRY DROVE TRUCK WITH NO LICENSE PLATES

Dominic Perry, 18, of 253 East Union street, was fined $5 by Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court this morning for driving a truck through the city streets which did not carry any license plates. The judge warned Perry, who had pleaded guilty to the charge, that hereafter he should observe the traffic laws, as a much stiffer penalty would be imposed.
